ORDER

Many cases, including Writ Petitions before the Hon'ble High Court and Supreme Court, where State Government is a party, are pending before various judicial forums. Even though file processing in government departments has been made electronic through various e-systems, there is no e-platform to monitor the various court cases where Government is a party.

Considering this, Government, as per the order read above, has nominated Shri Shine A. Haq, Additional Secretary & Joint Chief Protocol Officer as the nodal officer and General Administration (Computer Cell) Department as the nodal department for developing such an e-platform. Now an e-platform, named "Court Case information System (CCIS)" has been developed through M/s NIC to monitor the court cases where State Government is a party.

In the above circumstances, Government are pleased to launch this e-portal named Court Case Information System (CCIS) for monitoring the Court cases where Government is a party. This shall be included as an 'e-office services' in the present e-office system. Processing of files through this portal will be implemented in General Administration Department as a pilot project. In between all departments in Secretariat shall nominate a nodal officer for implementing the e-system in respective departments. The nodal officer will be given extensive training, who in turn shall train the officers of their department to use this system.
